2. How can we help prevent them?

- b. 1. Look at the picture and guess what happened to the boy.
2. Read the text and put the paragraphs into the correct order.

If only I hadn't left them on the floor!

- A. ☐ He didn't let his mother touch his leg. The injury seemed serious. His father was also there with his half-shaved face. The first seconds were wasted with useless attempts to ease the pain. But they knew that it would be dangerous to move him as it might be a fracture. They called for an ambulance and applied cold compress on Kerem's leg in order to prevent swelling until the ambulance came.
- B. ☐ When she ran into the living-room, her three-year-old son Kerem was lying on the magazines and crying in pain. That morning Kerem had taken his blue steering-wheel and started to run along the corridors and through the rooms. It was the game that he liked very much. He hadn't been aware of the dangers at his home.
- C. ☐ Can you imagine that magazines may cause a disaster? If they hadn't left the magazines on the floor the night before, little Kerem wouldn't have slipped and broken his leg. If they hadn't been tired and careless, they would have taken necessary precautions. Give yourself and your dear ones a fair chance to live a happy and healthy life.
- D. ☐ It was an ordinary morning routine. While mum was preparing breakfast in the kitchen, she was also trying to do the household chores. She had to hurry as she had a limited time before leaving little Kerem to the nursery school and going to her office. Just as she was holding the tray, a painful cry scared her to death.
